Spring 2017

From the Director's Desk

Things are in full swing here in the Roberta Kuhn Center as we move into our final month of the spring semester. The weather was cooperative and with the exception of our mid-March snow storm (thankfully not as much as was predicted) we have only missed one day due to weather. While sickness has taken its toll on instructors and participants, it has been a good semester, with lots of camaraderie and learning in our interactions with each other.

As we progress through another semester, it is hard to believe we are at the point already to begin preparing for next fall. I am in the process of meeting with instructors, reviewing the year and discussing their plans for next year. We are always open to suggestions from our community for potential instructors and potential class topics. It often does take a little time to find the right fit of instructor and topic, but the work is ongoing and input is always welcome. Karen

Creative Writing Class Reflections...

Instructor Bill Dall reflects on the value of taking time to rediscover and continue on our paths as learners. His poem, "Lifelong Learning" highlights these opportunities.

Praise knowledge—that glorious gift,
Inclined to melt away unless lovingly gathered,
Weaved, embedded in the mind's latticework—
Ever-expanding as we journey through life.

We wander the walkways of wisdom, snatching fruit
From the trees of awareness—never for folly, but for
The pure goodness and satisfaction of scholarship,
Our cherished memories carefully nurtured.

We paint layers of learning on the landscapes
Of our intellect, eureka moments of understanding
Blessing us like birthing stars that erupt
Into being in the nebulae of our mindfulness.

Ideas and insights elate and amaze us.
"So that's why King Lear prefers Cordelia."
Or "Blair's the tall man in the far right of that Old Carpenter painting of Lincoln's cabinet."

We realize we'll never put finishing touches
On the masterpiece of our mind's impressions;
The palette of our humanity is too modest.
But oh, such supreme joy in our attempts!

What a wonderful reflection on the opportunities open to us at any time, but especially during our experiences in a program such as the Roberta Kuhn Center. Some resources that may further the inquiry and that encourage us in our quest for knowledge are:

The RKC Community Continues to Contribute to the BVM Hunger Fund

On behalf of the Green Team at Mt. Carmel, a heartfelt thank you to everyone who has been diligently bringing in their beauty and oral care recyclables to our collection boxes. To date, the Hunger fund has received $600.24. The money collected is then used to support women and children across the world, and the recycled items are saved from our landfills. If you would like to be part of this effort, save the indicated empty items and deposit them here at Mt. Carmel in the designated boxes near the Aquatics and Yoga entrance or outside classroom 10 in the Roberta Kuhn Center hallway. List of accepted items →

Farewell with Gratitude...

As life calls us in different directions, we thankfully acknowledge the contributions of the following instructors as they move on to other endeavors.
